Foreword

We are living in an age of great progress and social unrest in which there is little or no place for the intricacies and complexities involved in the art of the past century. As a result of this movement, we have the modern art which attempts to express the truthful reflection of the spirit of its time. Realizing that everything old is not necessarily good nor everything new necessarily bad, we have compiled an annual based on this modern art. We trust that those who understand it will like it and that even those who do not, may by studying it gain an appreciation for this latest innovation in the field of art.

We, the class of 1929, have now come to the close of our career in the Greenville High School. As we look back over those four short years we have fond and pleasant memories, the majority of which occasion a smile and make us proud of the class of 1929. We realize what opportunities have been given us; and we also appreciate the invaluable service which the members of the faculty have rendered and the interest which they have taken in us.

We are well represented in every branch of high school activities. Our musical ability is displayed in the High School Orchestra, Band and Glee Club; and many of our members have taken part in the musical programs which have been given. In intellectual activities we have been prominent on account of our representation in interscholastic debates.

Since we have developed leaders in social, mental, physical, and spiritual lines, may we cast only honor upon the school which has trained us, and may we always be loyal and true alumni of our dear old G. H. S.

With best wishes for the success of all future students, the senior class bids you farewell.

Moditorial

In this Era of Modernism which is slowly enveloping our country we, the class of 1929, sincerely hope to attain the great rewards awaiting us at the summit of the steep mountain of success. In the years which are to come some of our class will win their wings in the field of aviation, and all the proudly waving trees of Greenville will nod to them in approval as they fly over the historic town. A few of our classmates will invent the conveniences and pleasures which we shall enjoy as the years go on. In professions and crafts, the world will become acquainted with more of our comparatively small band. Even those who do not gain their laurels in view of the public, will be doing worthwhile things in a quiet way. Now that we are graduating, we resolve not to allow Greenville to forget us, and to prove to her that we can make her proud of us on account of our own realization of modern ideas.

INA BIEHAUT, '29.

Class Prophecy

It was "Round Evening" when I arrived in Greenville. I left New York on the "Dream Train" and came "On the Road to Mandalay." When I stepped off the train, I felt "All Alone" and wondered where "That Old Gang of Mine" could be. Immediately I recognized "My Pet," Phyllis Kerlin, sitting on the curb holding her "Rag Doll"; beside her sat Mary Eleanor Brown. I asked them whether they could tell me where "Margie" Barry lived. They told me she lived "In a Little White House" "High up On a Hilltop." I hailed a taxi, and much to my surprise I found that Glenn Howell was the driver.

"As I was Sitting on the Inside, Looking on the Outside," I noticed Robert Hall, Alice Hagaman, Mary Halladay, Henry Steck, LaVon Finton, and Bernard Colville walking down the street. As we drove along the road "Together," we saw Mary E. Marshall and Roger Miller sitting "Under the Shade of an Old Apple Tree," watching their children, "Jo—ann."

It was "Sundown" when "We Two" reached her "Bungalow of Dreams." We walked up the "Wabaly Walk," "Side by Side," just as Junior Metcalfe was "Whispering" "Good-bye" to Marjorie. While "Waitin' for Katie"—Theonen, Charles Beedle and Herman Brumbaugh ("With Nothin' on Their Minds") came walking up the "Cobblestones". After talking over our "Schooldays", we decided to go to the "Show-Boat". Marjorie was "Too Tired"; so she stayed at home with Eva Nell Harrell, the cook, and Delmer Grote, the butler.

As we were walking down the street we saw the Mayor, Ralph Ries, with his trusties, Lester Dispennette, Walker Stocker, Raymond McVay, and Kenneth Briney, singing "The Prisoner's Song". Just as "The Song Was Ended" we heard the "Church Bells" ringing and learned that a double wedding was to be solemnized at "Twilight". The brides were to be Ina Biehaut and Mary McEowen, the grooms, Gerald Whitesell and Guy Perry.

We reached the theatre just as it began to "Rain"; so we used "A Smile as Our Umbrella" and walked on in. We bought our tickets from Irene Bickel who was substituting for Ward Straker who had received a slight injury while out driving with "Connie" O'Donnell. As we took our seats, we saw John Suter "Doin' the Racoon" at the special request of Virginia Marker and Roma Jay. Roberta Bayman came walking "Down the Aisle", singing "My Sweetie Went Away." When Herman Washington yelled to her, "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby," Herman was immediately put out by John Ream, the manager.

Next Paul Weisenbarger sang "I Love Me", with Virginia Miller as accompanist. The hit of the evening was Alberta Mote, who sang "Twelve Little Miles from Town" (Union City). The most interesting feature on the program was a group of song hits as follows:

"It's That Precious Little Thing Called Love"—Rosemary Pilliod and Eugene Neiswonger.

"Cheatin' on Me"—Eleanor Browne.

"One Alone"—Charlotte Birt.

"Somebody Stole My Gal"—Edward Beanblossom.

The last feature was a chorus of girls, "Doin' the New Low Down." This chorus was composed of Emeretta Arnold, Bessie Smith, Mary Baird, Agnes Bretz, Donna Corle, Louise Holland, Irene Hufnagle, Dorothy Arnold, Helen McClure, Hazel Kimmel, Ethel Stephens, and Madonna Baker. The music for this number was furnished by James Arnett's "Tattered Ten", Harold Ullery, Esther Haber, Marjorie Scott, Delman Lamy, Virginia Harter, Glenn Longenecker, Mollie Hayes, Virginia Prachter, Myron Eickenberry, and Laurence Kruckeberg.

We were leaving the theatre when we met those "Schoolday Sweethearts," Cletus Alexander and "Bee Franklin," but upon investigation we found she was also the "Sweetheart of Six Other Guys". We got home at "Three O'clock in the Morning", and after a visit by the "Japanese Sandman", we fell asleep amid "Blue Shadows".

"Out of the Dawn" came "Old Man Sunshine" which was "Good News" to everyone. As I came down stairs, I heard Billy Pickering talking to Lucille Hogston, Opal Cole, Dorothy Meier, and Fern Powell. We sat down to breakfast, and Velma Long, the maid, poured the "Cream in My Coffee".

Since the time for my visit was limited, I decided to take one more look around town before leaving for the station. I hurried through my breakfast and started for the business section of the town. While I was riding down Broadway, I saw Everett Stephens and Esther Snell, walking down the street. Behind them were Hester Zech, Helen Brandon, and Edna Mangan, "Headin' for Harlem". "Just Around the Corner" was no other than that old art student, Leona Reeder, painting Esther Haber as "Jeanine of Lilac Time." On another corner stood Lowell Culbertson who was "Broken-hearted", "Wondering" "What Has Become of Mary." Across the street a clever sign caught my eyes, "Calderwood and Krickenberger, Specialists in the Science of Singing."

As I intended to visit the Chamber of Commerce, I left my taxi and walked to the building. I noticed a large crowd assembled outside and in great anxiety rushed to a nearby pop-corn stand to discover the cause. Behind the window I recognized Helen Robeson and Ruth Shafer industriously popping corn. They told me the crowd was looking for employment. I pushed my way through to the entrance, where I was met by the door-keeper, John Thomas. While we stood there looking back over the crowd, I saw many of our old schoolmates; among them were Robert Roesser, Mildred Haber, Pauline Small and Ida Shahnann, Theodore Rihm, Velma Beisner, Juanita Briney, and Duane Kessler. I was very much surprised to learn that Otho Morton was the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and I insisted upon seeing him; when I entered his office, I was met by his secretary, Naomi Ludy. After a friendly chat, I left with a feeling of pride for my old classmates.

While I was waiting for a taxi, my eye was attracted to a store window; much to my surprise when I looked in, I saw Lucille Allen and Aletha Myers demonstrating to Mary Collins and Pauline Brown a new machine for reducing.

It was "The End of a Perfect Day" "When" I arrived at the station, and I realized that "Wedding Bells were Ringing out That Old Gang of Mine". "An' Furthermore", I knew that "When" we reached the "Cross Roads" of life that we would not be "Too Busy" to "Remember"; and so—Adios—" 'Till We Meet Again".

How far away seems yesterday, when we were Freshmen and Sophomores—and yet how near! Today, as Juniors, we stop aghast at the realization that our high school days are nearly completed—for tomorrow we shall be Seniors. A glance through the Annual will show the prominence of the Juniors in sports, art, dramatics, music, and last but not least, in scholastic standing.

We have great expectations for the morrow, and we sincerely hope that we may carry through the senior year of 1930 successfully.

The referee, Mr. Bailey, stood ready for strenuous work at the ringing of the bell, September 7, 1928.

Ding! Ding!

The players, my Sophomore classmates, rushed upon the floor for a hard nine months' battle. The four stars were John Engelken, as captain; Ruth Manix, Alice Wheeler, and Elmo Berry. With Mr. Phelps as our splendid coach, we have proceeded famously. Just before the end of the first quarter, at Hallowe'en, we made a goal, a masked party. Since we had earned four dollars from the first goal, we kept up our spirit and, after hard playing, we scored more points for our yearly record on February 13, 1929 when we gave our Valentine party.

FRESHMEN

Freshman Class History

In the fall of 1928, an educational pullman carried one hundred and seventy-five passengers into the portals of Greenville High School. Some of the passengers were timid and bashful, while others were eager to meet the opportunities ahead.

The mayor, Mr. Waltz, and his aide, Mr. Bailey, made us acquainted with the different laws and rulings of Educational City, and in a few months, the new arrivals were quite at home. Some of them even took part in the many events of the city. Some joined the different musical organizations; others participated in the athletics of their new hometown. There were representatives of this group of new arrivals in nearly every organization of Educational City.

In the month of January, the mayor and his aide allowed the new citizens of Educational City to have a party in the City's ballroom (the gym). They were chaperoned by Mr. Lindemann and Miss Steinmetz, who did their best to make the party enjoyable.

Although the new citizens have not, as yet, become "famous," the determination to make themselves rated as good citizens of Educational City is very strong, and we hope that all of them will prove this determination in the coming school years.

CLUBS

Spanish Club

President	LOUIS O'DONNELL
Vice-President	LESTER DISPENNETTE
Secretary	CORNELIUS O'BRIEN
Treasurer	KATHRYN THOENEN

The Spanish Club is an organization in the Greenville High School whose aim and purpose is to bring together the students who have had one or more years of Spanish, and to create a greater interest in Spanish by its social activities.

Art Club

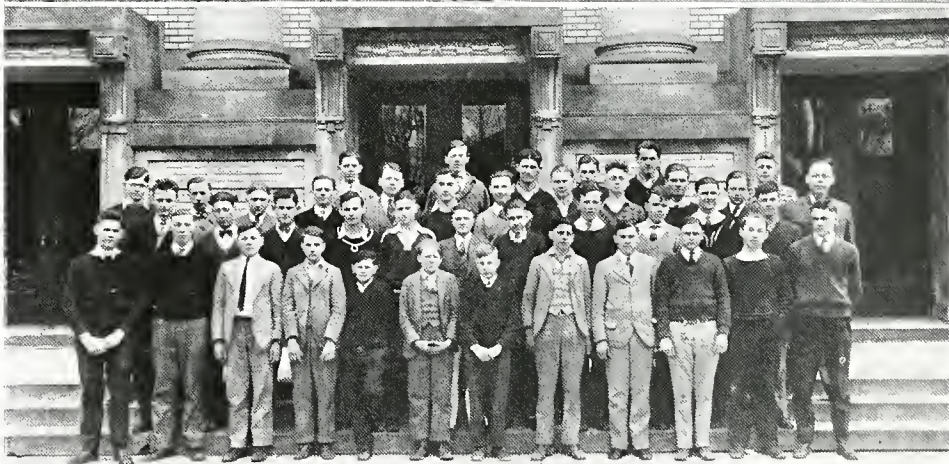

President	GERALD WHITESELL
Vice-President	BILLY PICKERING
Secretary	MARY THOENEN
Treasurer	REGINA SCHREEL

The purpose of the Art Club is to broaden its appreciation of art and to extend this appreciation to others. Hikes and a party, made novel by unusual decorations, are given each year for the entertainment of the members.

Sodalitas Latina

President	ROSS ZELLER
Vice-President	BRICE METCALFE, JR.
Secretary	ISABELLE CLARK
Treasurer	Z. H. MILEY

Sodalitas Latina was organized for the purpose of giving a better understanding of the life, art, and literature of the Romans. A Roman banquet is given each year in order to make Roman customs more vivid in the minds of those who attend.

Home Economics Club

President MARIE FLATTER
 Vice-President ALICE BARNHART
 Secretary MARTHA MCMILLER
 Treasurer LUCILLE KESTER

The purposes of the Home Economics Club are to stimulate interest in the home economics work and to promote friendliness and co-operation among its members.

Greenville Agricultural Society

President ROBERT STOCKER
 Secretary-Treasurer WALKER STOCKER

The Greenville Agricultural Society, organized in 1926, is composed of students of the Smith Hughes classes, with a present membership of forty-six. The purpose of the club is to promote a closer and more friendly co-operation among the boys by monthly meetings held in the high school gymnasium.

G. H. S. Woodworkers

President HENRY STECK
 Vice-President KEPPLER SMALL
 Secretary-Treasurer EUGENE BOLI

The aim of the G. H. S. Woodworkers is to create interest in the Industrial Arts Department and to work in a broader field than the department itself affords. The organization plans to visit another school or some manufacturing concern each year.

Girl Reserves

President MARY ELIZABETH MARSHALL
 Vice-President HELEN BRANDON
 Secretary MIRIAM WILSON
 Treasurer MARY BROWN

"To find and give the best"—thus reads the purpose of the Girl Reserves. It is the aim of every girl in this organization to live up to this purpose. In so doing, she must face squarely all problems that come to her in daily life, render service to others, and strive to promote a Christian fellowship throughout the school.

Greenville High School Hi-Y Club

President BRICE METCALFE, JR.
 Vice-President EVERETT STEPHENS
 Secretary GERALD WHITESELL
 Treasurer RICHARD MINNICH

The Hi-Y Club, a member of the National Affiliation of Hi-Y Clubs, has exerted a great deal of influence over the school in the last year. It upholds the following standards: clean scholarship, clean speech, clean athletics, and clean living.

Archimedes Science Club

President GLEN DORA HARP
 Vice-President REELAND GROSVENOR
 Secretary MARGARET MARTIN
 Treasurer ISABELLE McEOWEN
 Scout HUGH HUSSEY

The Archimedes Science Club was organized in October, 1928. The purpose of the club is to promote a greater interest in science. Each member is required to secure ten credits each month by demonstrating his knowledge and ability in science.

Greenville High School Orchestra

The aim of the high school orchestra is not only to stimulate greater appreciation of instrumental music, but to arouse a greater interest among students to learn how to play the different instruments.

Greenville High School Band

The primary function of the band is to arouse enthusiasm and school spirit at our football and basketball games. Equally as important as this, however, is the encouragement given junior high school students to learn to play an instrument.

Debate Club

President	BRICE METCALFE, JR.
Vice-President	CHARLOTTE BIRT
Secretary	MARJORIE BARRY
Treasurer	HENRY STECK

The aim of the Debate Club is to give its members a broader knowledge of debating, to create a greater interest in public speaking, and to give more students an opportunity to debate.

Football—1928

Through grim determination and willingness to cooperate, our boys came to the front this year in this great game of football. Since the spirit of cooperation and determination has been lacking for some time, much credit is due both the boys and the coach for bringing dear old G. H. S. out of chaos into the rank of notable, honorable, faithful and determined players.

Girls' Basketball

Because of unfailing teamwork and sportsmanship, the girls' Basketball team has been undefeated for three seasons. There is much credit due the coach who has put our team in the front ranks of girls' athletics. We have not only learned how to play basketball, but we have realized that all things worth while come as the result of hard work.

Track Team

The Greenville High School track team of 1928 had a very successful season. In the New Paris meet they took all first places with a score of 98 to 24. In the Monroe meet they took all first places, with the exception of the javelin throw, with a score of 86 to 36. At the Oakwood meet they met their first and only defeat with a score of 47 to 75. This upset was due to the fact that two of the regulars, Deeter and Whitesell, were out of the team on account of sickness.

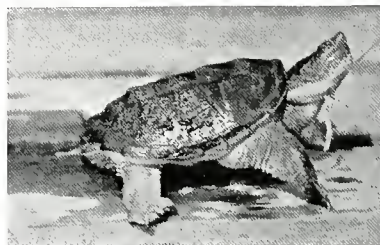

The team entered the M. V. L. tournament which they easily won with a big score, Greenville—60½; Troy—41; Piqua—37; Sidney—8; Miamisburg—4½; and Xenia—0. Howell broke two records, Shot—43'6", and Discus—109'7". Greenville High School also holds a record for the 440-yard run and the one-mile relay. This makes a total of four records held by the high school track teams.

At the District meet at Miami University the team succeeded in retaining fourth place which had been held by the Greenville High School since the season of 1927.

Boys' "G" Association

President

GERALD WHITESSELL

Vice-President

JAMES ARNETT

Secretary-Treasurer

ROGER MILLER

The Varsity "G" Association is made up of men in school who have been awarded "G's" by the Athletic Board of Control for service in some department of interscholastic athletics.

The purpose of the organization is to create a spirit of good sportsmanship not only among the players, but among the students of Greenville High School.

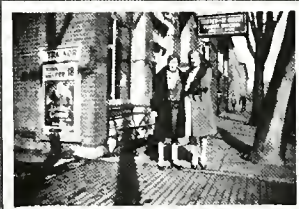

Board of Control

President	MR. BAILEY
Coach	MR. STOLTZ
Coach	MISS WILLIAMS
Secretary	CHARLOTTE BIRT
Faculty Manager	MR. SALZMAN
President Athletic Association	HENRY STECK
Student Representative	HUGH STRAKER

The chief function of the Board of Control is to direct and forward athletics in the High School. As its name suggests, it controls the school finances and buys the equipment necessary to carry on improved athletics. Through the Board of Control "G's" are awarded to those who have proved themselves worthy of honor in the field of athletics.

Scholarship Contest

Greenville High School sent eight representatives to the First Annual Scholarship Contest held at Miami University, March 30, 1929. Out of this number, there were four winners—Lenore Fourman won first place in Geometry, William and Frederick Deubner tied for first place in Biology, and Mary Collins received second place in Civics.

The state contest was held in Columbus, April 6. Again Greenville won laurels; Lenore Fourman was awarded second place in Geometry, while William Deubner received third place in Biology.

The contest was held at Ohio State University, where the contestants were most delightfully entertained at a luncheon in Pomerene Hall. They were welcomed by G. W. Rightmire, President of Ohio State, and two members of the Student Senate. Then, both Mr. J. L. Clifton, Director of Education for Ohio, and Mr. W. J. Cooper, Commissioner of Education, spoke briefly. After the luncheon, a tour of the campus was conducted by Freshmen who pointed out the places of interest to the groups of which they were in charge.

At the luncheon, complimentary tickets for the baseball game between Ohio University and Ohio State were given out. Between the innings of the game, the winners of the contest were announced by the cheer leaders. Greenville should indeed be proud of these students who went out as a part of the representatives of the fifty thousand high school students of Ohio.

The School Seal

The Buckeye, although not a common tree, has grown so extensively in Ohio that the name "The Buckeye State" has been the outcome.

The local and picturesque name is, undoubtedly, a tribute of the imagination of the early settlers.

When the shell cracks and exposes to view the rich brown nut, the pale brown scar, the resemblance to the half-opened eye of a deer is not fancied but real. From this resemblance came the name Buckeye. Although this tree can be found in New England, one naturally expects to find the Buckeye in Ohio.

It is called the Buckeye State, its inhabitants are called Buckeyes. For this reason the Buckeye tree was selected as a motive of design for the Seal of the Public Schools of Greenville, Ohio.

The Buckeyes massed together at the bottom of the design represent the Schools as a whole.

The large Buckeye at the bottom represents the Liberal Arts, while all the other Buckeyes represent a special department which all together goes to make up a well rounded education as every good school should aim "To train for good citizenship."

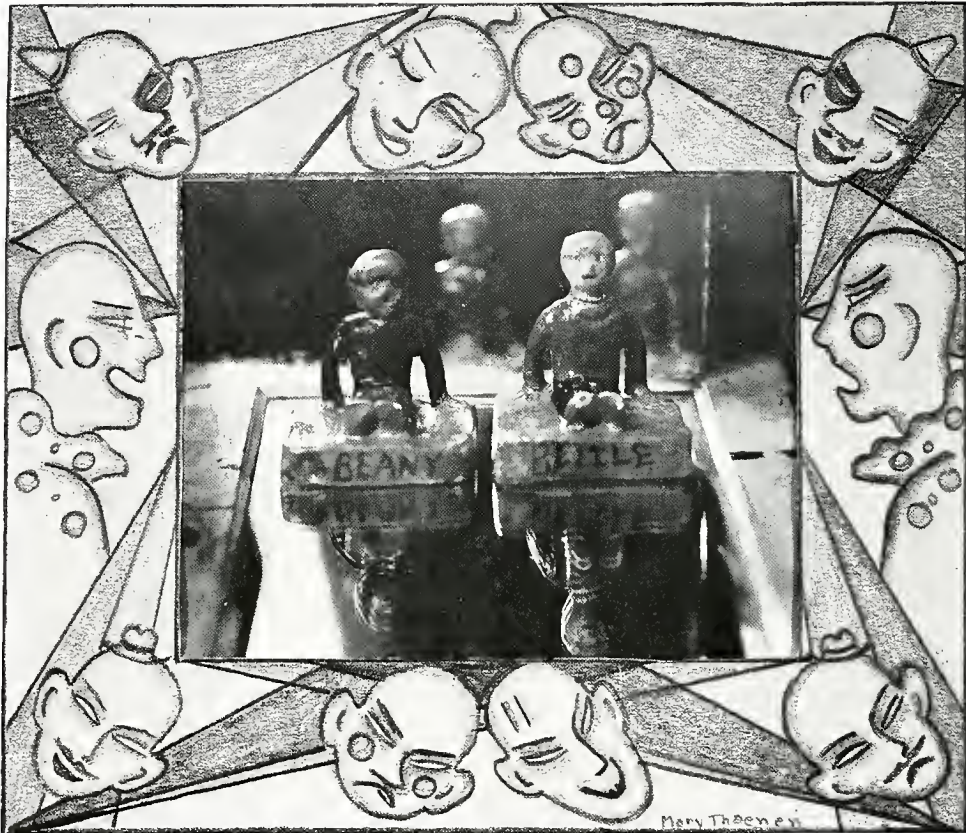

The idea of the sun and hills being introduced into the design, was taken from the Seal of the State of Ohio.

The center is the Indian arrowhead with the dates of the treaties made at Greenville. This connects the city of Greenville with the history of the country for it has long been known as "The Treaty City." And in this we have a School Seal that is individual and different from any other school in the United States.

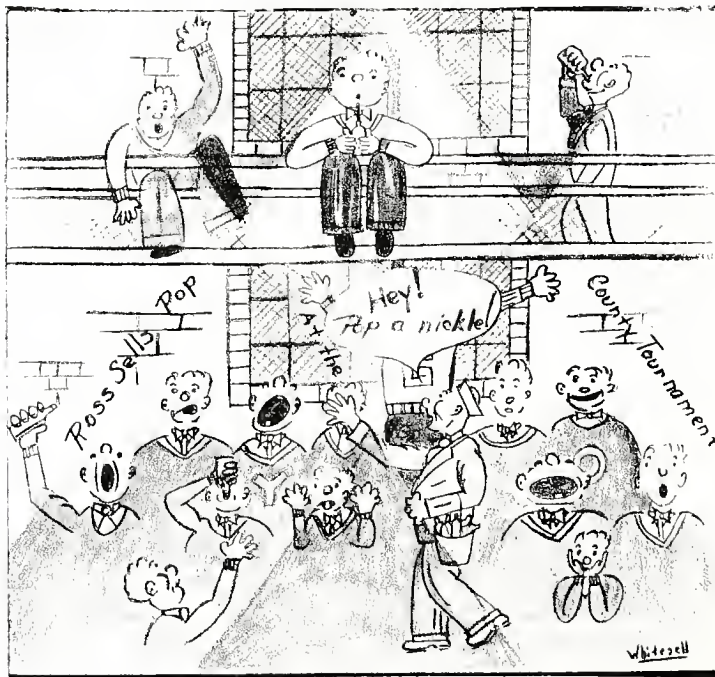

Designed by Anna Bier, Supervisor of Art Instruction. Adopted by the Board of Education February 3rd, 1914. Copyrighted 1914 by Board of Education, Greenville, Ohio.

BEANY AND BEEDLE.

Lester Dispennette has signed a contract with a prominent movie company to play opposite Clara Bow, (another red head) in her next picture, "Two Modern Woodpeckers."

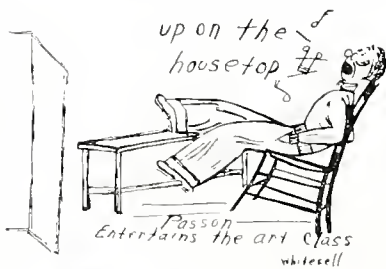

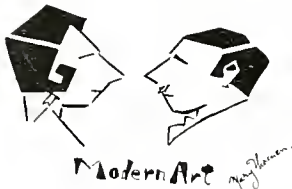

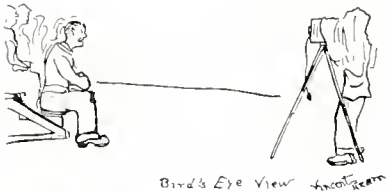

Mr. Allen—What is a current event?
 Glenn Howell—A new kind of radio wire.

Lost—Between Dayton and Greenville, a good used tire, can be identified by five or six holes.
 Charles Beedle.

— 5 MINUTES BEFORE Chapel —

The reason Rog' Miller is such a fast runner is that he never gets up in the morning till 8:27, and has to run to school.

There's only one guy who can pull more wise-cracks than Eddie Beanblossom, and that's Charlie Beedle.

Nubbins' Colville, one of Greenville's most prominent aviators has just written an amazing book on "How to Get an Aeroplane Out of the Cellar Without Taking the Roof Off."

Jack Fueston—Do you belong to the Phi Sigs?
Hen Neiswonger—No, but I don't care. I never could learn to speak Greek.

Mr. Allen—What is the center of social life?
Ross Zeller—Bucks.

Miss Newport—What is irony?
Mary E. Marshall—it's a place where they make stoves.

A moving picture is now being filmed at G. H. S. entitled, "The Romance of the Halls." Guy Perry and Mary McEowen are the leading players.

If Metcalfe could play the piano better, and Brumy could play the trombone, the Weird Workers wouldn't be so bad, if they could get a better drummer and banjo player.

Mr. Warner—Name me an insect with a sting.
Mary Corle—A snake!

Freshman (Speaking to the janitor)—Where is the cafeteria?
Janitor (Emphatically)—Let your nose be your guide.

Ream—Hen! How do you account for your popularity?
Hen—Well! It pays to advertise.

Bright Pupil (questioning Mr. Morrison)—Where is the shift key on this typewriter?
Mr. Morrison (quite dignified)—Oh! I left it in my other trousers.

Bernard Colville—Say! Les, have you read my new book?
Lcs. Dispennette—No! What is it?
Nubbins—Democracy versus Ignoramus.

Mr. J. J. Martz has been appointed Chief Inspector of the halls in Greenville High School. His principal duties will be to keep the halls clear of would-be courtships.

Miss Newport—Do you believe in the hereafter?
 Weisay—Why, yes, why?
 Miss Newport—Well, hereafter, don't talk so much.

Mr. Allen—Cletus, what do you know about the origin of the species?
 Cletus—Species originates in the U. S. Mint.

Notice: The humor department wishes to apologize to Don Ira Young for using his name without his approval. This will never occur again.

Miss Hathaway—John! Give me a sentence using the word "butterfly."

John Engelken—When we have pancakes at our house, you ought to see the butter fly.

Wanted—A good method for remembering the date of the war of 1812—Bill Bertram.

Rihm—Say John! I hear that Ream has the plumber's sickness.

Suter—How's that?

Rihm—He has loosening of the joints.

Miss Hawley—Use Egypt in a sentence, Robert.
 Bob Stonaker—I bought a dozen eggs and Egypt me.

Wanted—A remedy for whispering in class. Will pay well for a successful method. Velma Long.

We all hope to live to see the day when Mr. Salzman will be a professional ref'.
